BLANCO APPEALS

TO HIS PEOPLE.

He Tells Them of the Giving Up of Cuba, and Gives the Spaniards
Some Good Advice.

New York, Aug. 26.—A special to The Press from Washington says a translation of General Blanco's latest proclamation to the people of Havana has reached Washington. It says:

"We have been vanquished and without consideration of our birthplace, will be tomorrow as strangers in this country and as emigrants to this portion of the earth, which today and probably a few weeks more, is a part of our Spanish fatherland.

"As strangers and as the vanquished, I counsel you, the people of Cuba, whose hearts are Spanish and who deeply feel the disgrace of their country, not to dispute a single benefit which the triumph gives to the victors.

"It is our obligation now to be quiet; not to take any part in the different manifestations of a local political nature and even to decline participation in such affairs, even if the right of franchise be offered us.

"But you have one duty which should be a duty of love; that is to undertake the task of reconstruction of all your interests, and it is your duty also to ask for, even appeal, if it becomes necessary from your position as the vanquished to the victorious, for a guarantee for your personal safety and the protection of your interests.

"If you do as I counsel you, the United States will take care of your lives and interests. My mission here will soon be finished, as will the sovereignty of Spain, and any one who feels that with honor to himself he may continue to call himself a Spaniard will have to matriculate his name at the Spanish consulate which will be established in this city.

"I believe I have done all that I could have done for her majesty's loyal subjects. It was our duty to make war against the insurgents, who never have been grateful to Spain for her efforts in their behalf.

"I am convinced that there will be no further disputes between the Cubans and the Spaniards in this island, for it is my belief that as soon as the Cubans begin to govern here they will find out how useful are the Spaniards to them, and finally will concede to them the place they deserve in the government of the island. Your companion.

HOAR SLATED

FOR HAY'S PLACE.

The President Wants to Appoint Him, and at the Same Time Regrets to See Him Leave the Senate.

Boston, Aug. 26.—The Journal's Washington correspondent says:

If George F. Hoar will consent to accept the appointment as ambassador at the court of St. James, the appointment will probably be made.

The president is seriously thinking of asking him to take the place which will soon be vacated by Ambassador Hay, and he is restrained only by his reluctance to remove Senator Hoar from the position he now holds. It is hardly believed that Senator Hoar would be willing to abandon the senate after so many years in order to enter on a diplomatic career, involving the formation of ties and the acceptance of strange conditions, but the president has thought that he would be the ideal American representative in London at a time when relations between Great Britain and the United States have become so close and when the duties of an ambassador are to be peculiarly delicate and important.

Senator Hoar is perhaps the one American who without great wealth can maintain the prestige of an ambassador in London, for he is almost the only American who is so well known and highly regarded that he could safely live as he liked. The one thing which causes the president to hesitate is that he has not already sounded the senator on the subject and is unwilling to take him out of the senate.

LADIES! Ladies!

A blind man called in my store. He picked up a cap and saw it. This is old but my new and beautiful line of up-to-date nobby, stlye, elegant, semi porcelain decorated goods are new and fresh. They dazzle the eye and make the blind see. Asking you to call, I am respectfully, J. Allen Myers, The Hot Center, 226

The Home Newspaper.

Your paper tells you when to go to church, to county court and probate court," says an eminent divine, "and when to send your children to school. It tells you who is dead, who is married, who is sick, who is born and many other things you would like to know. It calls attention to public enterprise and advocates the best of schools, of law and order in town. It records the marriage of your daughter, the death of your son and the illness of your wife, free of charge. It sets forth the advantages and attractions of your town, invites immigration, and is the first to welcome newcomers. Yet, in spite of all these benefits, some people say the home paper is not half as good as the city paper that has no interest in their business or success. The home paper, like the home church, is too often neglected by those who are benefited by it."

Movement of Troops is Slow.

Chickamauga, Aug. 26.—The movement of troops from Camp Thomas is progressing much more slowly than General Brackenridge and his officers anticipated. Much complaint is expressed that regiments are ready to move but they are unable to secure transportation.

The Ninth Pennsylvania will load at Rossville and go to Lexington. The Second Missouri and First New Hampshire marched to Ringgold, Ga., where they loaded for Lexington. These three regiments compose the Third brigade of the third division, third corps. General Andrews, brigade commander, with his staff has left for Lexington. The First West Virginia and Sixth Ohio are making preparations to leave for Knoxville.

The First Illinois cavalry which marched to Rossville Wednesday night failed to get away for Chicago until 10 o'clock this morning.

Mink's Appetite Caused Its Death.

McKinney, Tex., Aug. 26.—While a crowd was in front of a grocery store a mink came from under it and attacked a chicken on the sidewalk and killed it. Though the little murderer was attacked with sticks and boot heels, it heroically tried to kill another chicken, but was killed before it succeeded. This makes the fourth mink killed at said store.

TEACH ME TO DO THY WILL.

Dear Lord, my will from thine doth not go off a different way.

I cannot say, "Thy will be done,"

In every darkened day;

My heart grows chill

To see thy will.

Turn all earth's gold to gray.

My will is set to gather flowers,

These blight them in my hand;

Mine reaches for life's sunny hours,

These leads through shadow land;

And all my days

Go on in ways

I cannot understand.

WOMEN IN THE SUNDAY-SCHOOL.

They are Infinitely Better Than Men

as Teachers of Children.

The chief and underlying cause of the decay of the Sunday-school, is the selection of incapable and incompetent men as superintendents. If men of broader views and keener perceptions were superintendents of our Sunday-schools, the necessity for a few changes in the teachers would at once be apparent, and they would be promptly made," writes Mr. Bok.

"One of these changes would be that the masculine element in the active conduct would begin and end with a superintendent, a competent assistant or two, and a systematic librarian. The sooner that our churches realize that women, and women alone, should be the teachers of the young in their schools, the nearer they will come to the ideal condition. The more a woman has to do with a child, the better for the child. And the more sympathetic, tender and well-bred women and the fewer men we have as teachers in our Sunday-schools, the better it will be for the children and the schools. But no woman, occupied in business during the week, should, either of her own volition or under pressure, allow herself to be permitted to act as teacher in a Sunday-school.

When a woman is engaged in business for six days of a week her Sunday should be to her a day of rest. Her place in church or school on Sunday should be that of auditor, not of worker. A little higher order of intelligence is vitally necessary in our Sunday-school classes. We demand this of our teachers in our secular schools, and parents have a right to ask it of the Sunday-school. It is not enough that the Sunday-school teacher should be spiritual; she must have intelligence, wherewith to apply her spirituality to the very best advantage and by the most attractive methods. Young girls are to-day teachers who should be in classes. To bring some spiritual lesson to the mind of a child is not play; it is an art, and calls for experience with children, a knowledge of human nature, an understanding of the very highest and deepest truths of life.

The Finished Character.

There are, within the range of man's life, processes of life which must be solitary; passages of duty which draw one absolutely upon his individual moral forces, and admit of no aid whatever from another. Alone we must stand sometimes; and if our better nature is not to shrink into weakness, we must take with us the thought which was the strength of Christ.

"Yet I am not alone, because the Father is with me." The sense of right more readily indurates the tender than melt the rocky soul, and that is the most finished character which begins in beauty and ends in power; that cans on the love of kindred while it may, and when it may not can stand true in the love of God; that shelters itself amid the domesticities of life while duty wills, and when it forbids can go forth under the expanse of immortality, and face the storm that beats, and traverse any wilderness that lies beneath the canopy.

Those Who Suffer.

If we suffer wrongly, why should we add to our suffering by giving heed to the suggestions of Satan, or allow ourselves to lose confidence in our fellowmen. The psalmist said: "In my haste I said all men are liars," but for us to harbor such a thought is to cut us off from the fellowship of our brethren, to look with distrust upon all their actions and interpret their every act as an intention to do us harm when really no harm is meant. Trust not to your own understanding. A good man's steps are ordered by the Lord. If we suffer with Him we shall also reign with Him.
